Research & Extension Manager

Are you passionate about agricultural research?

The Hart Field-Site Group Inc (HFSG) is expanding their team and seek to employ a full-time person to lead its research and extension programs in the Mid North of South Australia.

The HFSG conduct a large number of trials & other projects related to broadacre cropping on a 40 ha site owned by the group.

The core aim of the group is to enhance the skills of farmers by providing independent information and assisting them in the rapid adoption of the best cropping practices and technology.

Reporting directly to the HFSG board and working closely with HFSG staff and other contractors to achieve that aim, applicants will meet a wide range of core competencies including experience in trial design and management, development and writing of project proposals, trial analysis and extension through field days, workshops and publications.

The successful applicant will operate with a high level of autonomy, must be self-motivated and able to work independently in an unsupervised environment.

Applications are welcome from candidates who can provide all or part of the described roles.

Experience: Previous agronomic experience and a sound knowledge of research and extension is a prerequisite for this position. A degree in Agricultural Science (or equivalent) is preferred but not essential.

Applicants must have:

- A current Australian driver's license
- The right to work in Australia

Start date: January / February 2020 (negotiable)

Terms: This position is being offered as a 12 month contract.

Salary: A competitive remuneration package will be offered to the successful candidate.

Applications close: November 26, 2019 at 5pm

To apply: Please send a current CV including the names of 2 work-related referees and a cover letter detailing your skills and experience in relation to the position roles and duties.
